

Daniel and the Lava Beast

Story by Charlie Sloey
Pictures by Charlie Sloey

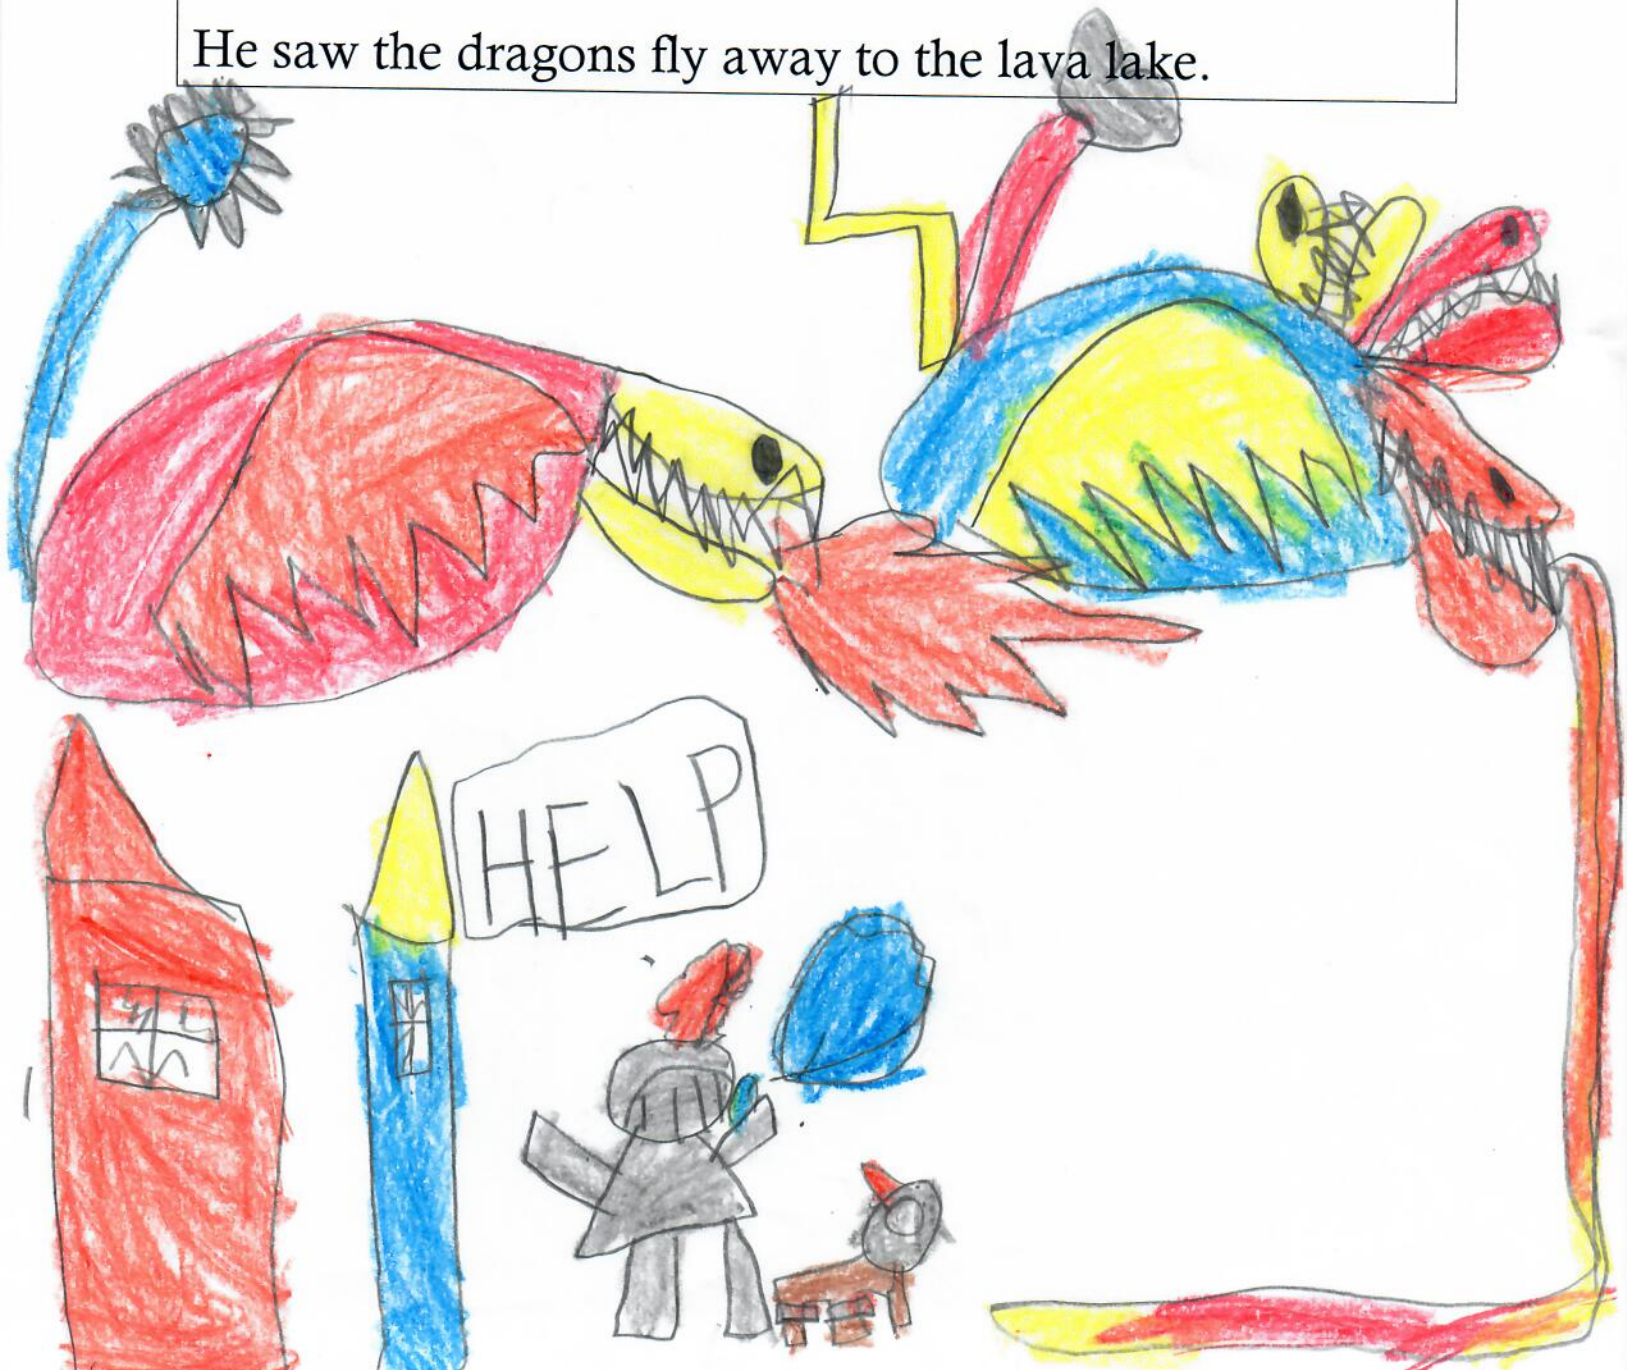

There was a farmer named Daniel who lived in a village called Aquene, which means peace. He had a dog named Bob.

One day he was planting sunflowers in his garden and he found a shiny, golden gem.

He picked up the gem and he found himself wearing metal armor and an ice blaster. Bob also got a suit of armor.

A bolt of lightning struck nearby. Daniel heard a cry for "HELP." He looked up and saw two dragons, one breathing fire and one breathing lava, burning down the village.

He saw the dragons fly away to the lava lake.

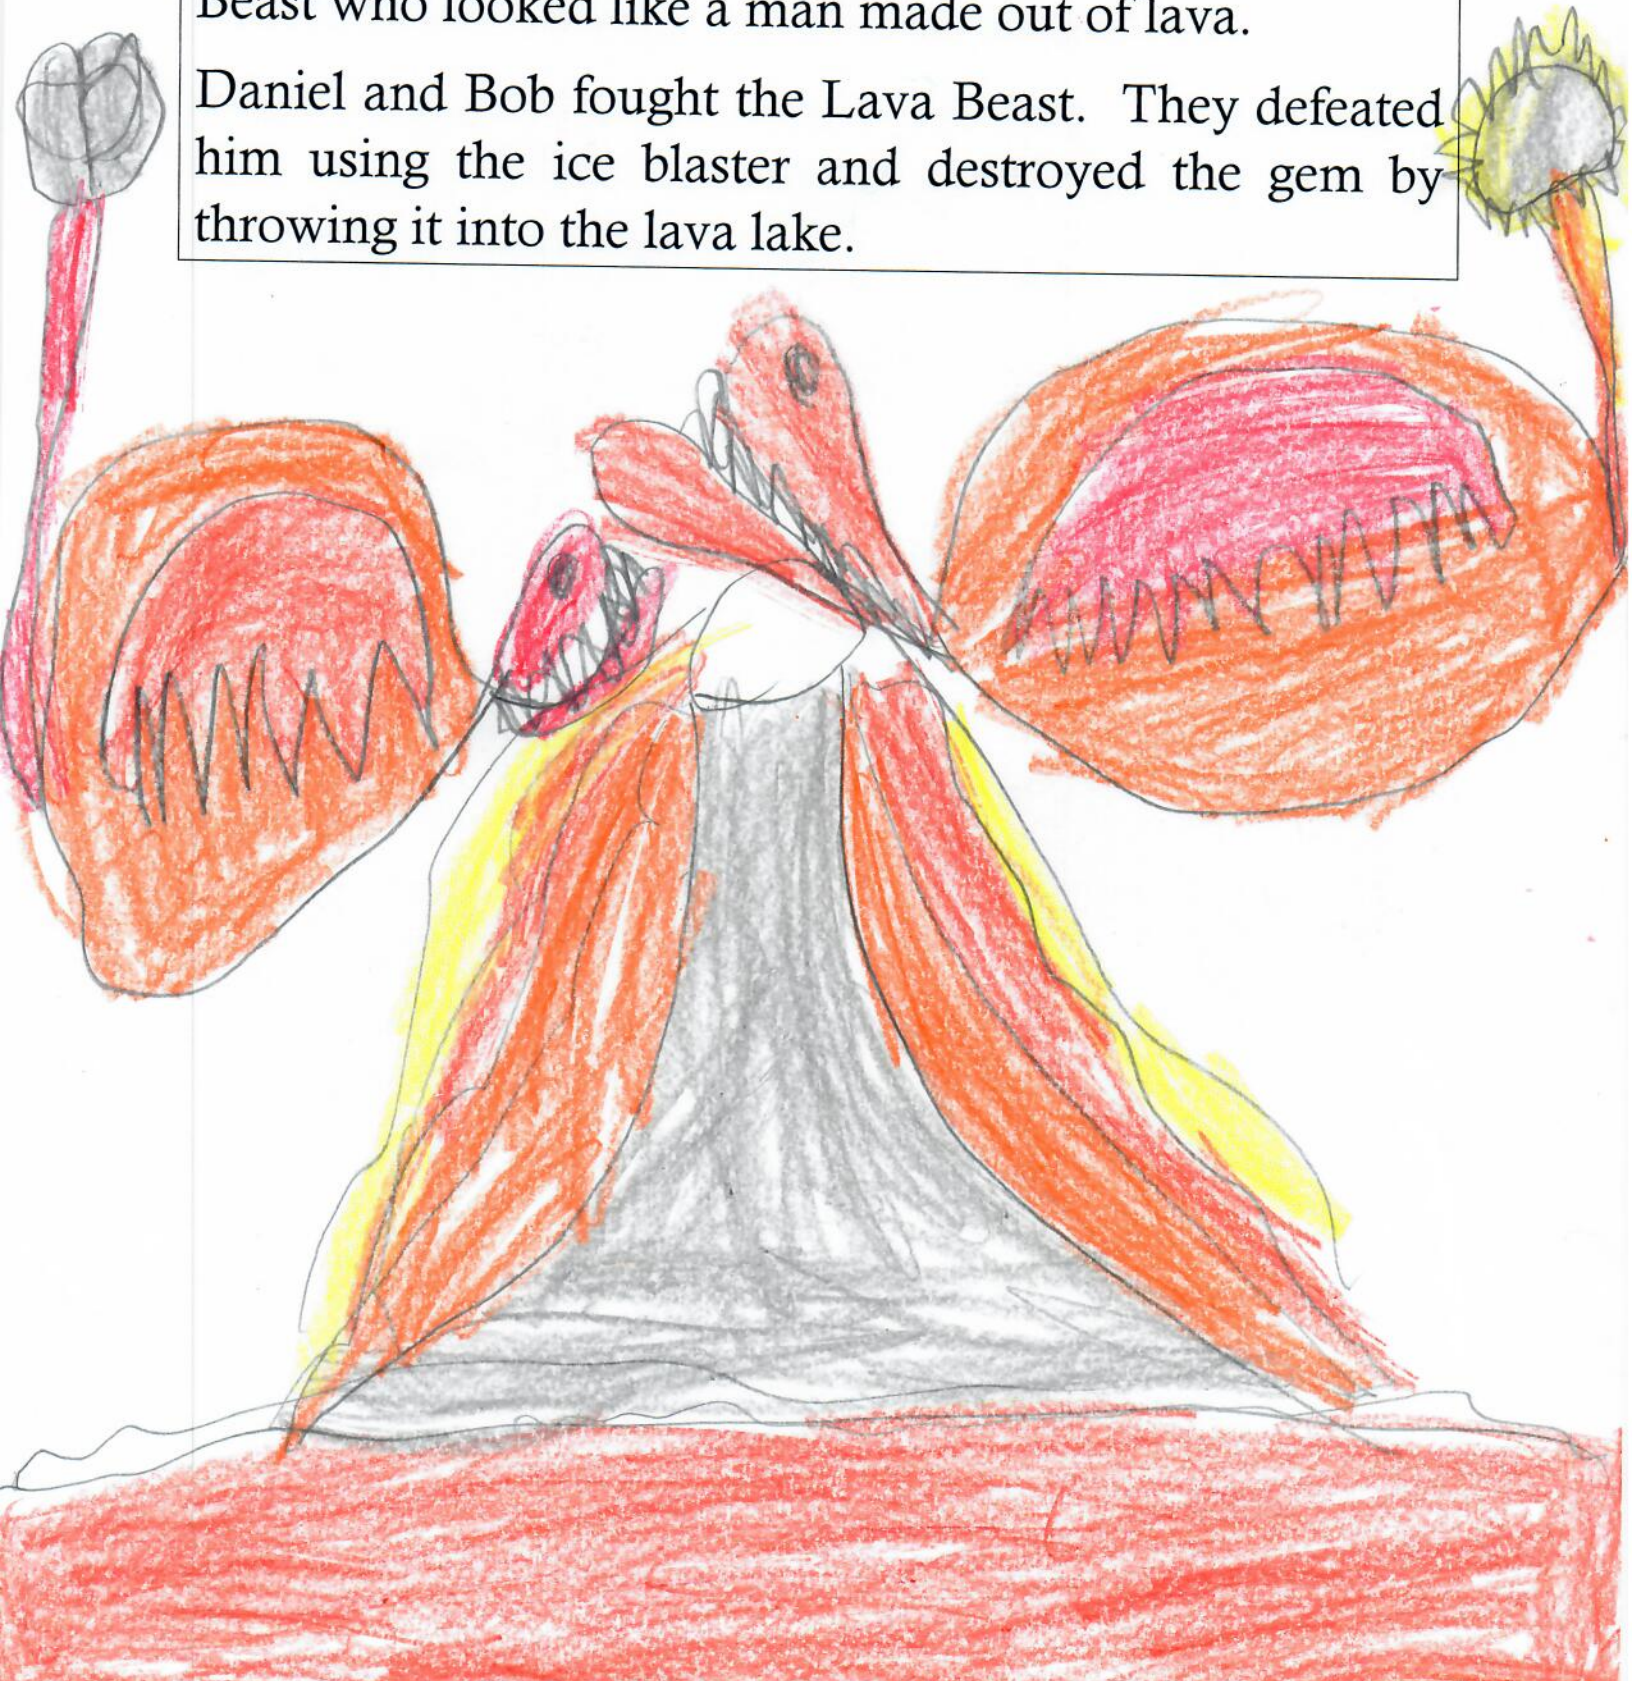

Daniel and Bob started their quest to slay the dragons. First, they went through the woods, then under a mountain. They saw many scary things on the way.

When they got to the lava lake, they fought and defeated the dragons that were guarding the statue of the Lava Beast. They went into the statue and found the Lava Beast who looked like a man made out of lava.

Daniel and Bob fought the Lava Beast. They defeated him using the ice blaster and destroyed the gem by throwing it into the lava lake.

THE END